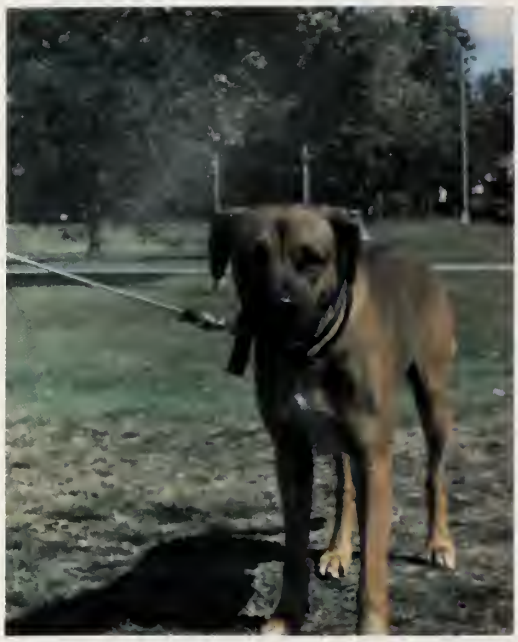
Merrimack College

North Andover, Mass.

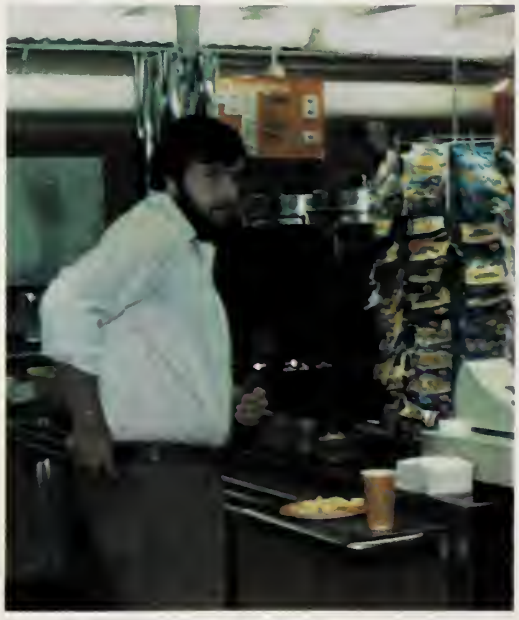
Theme: Reflections

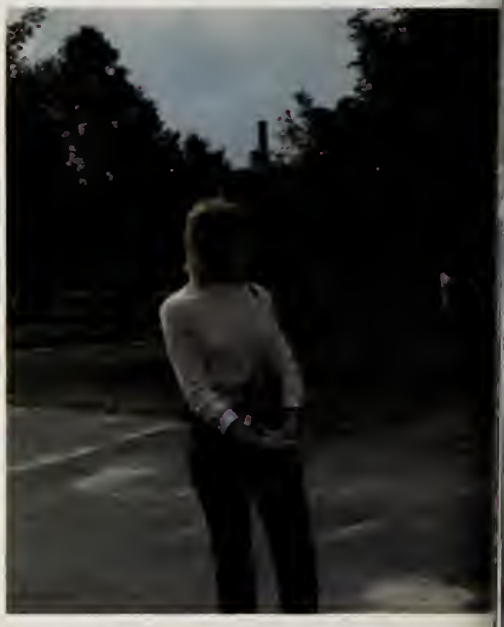
who we are,

On the road to becoming



87



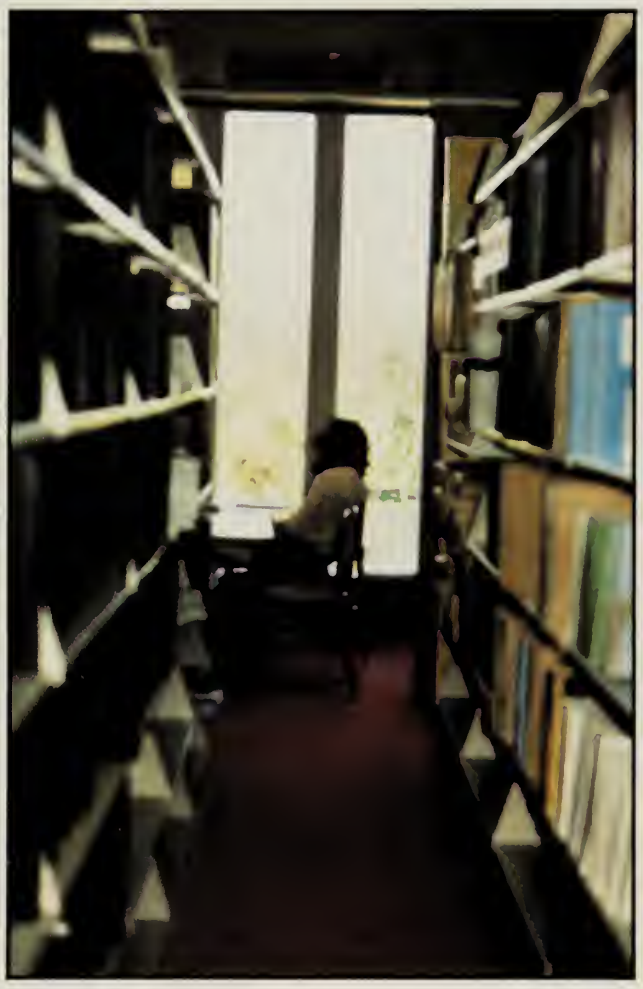


And discovering who we will be,

We will share in a world of happenings

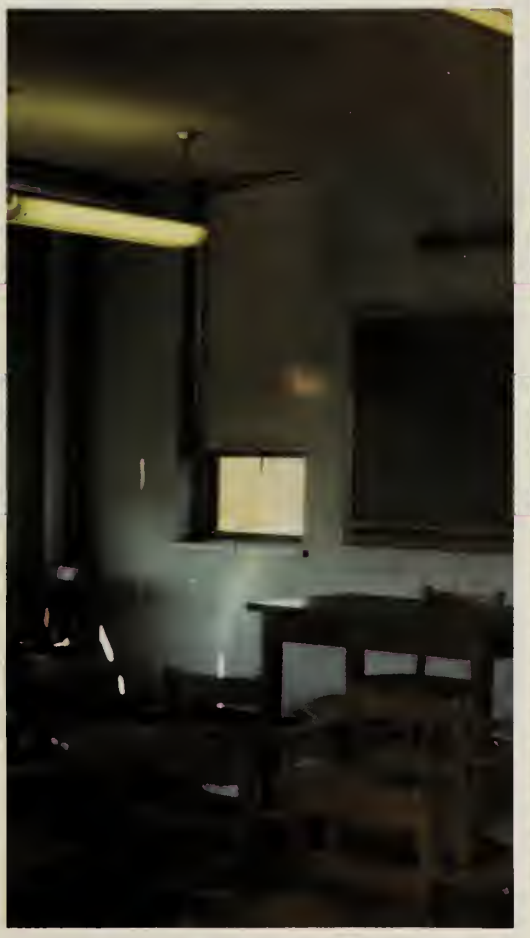
We will experience

t no other can see.



Memories will always linger,

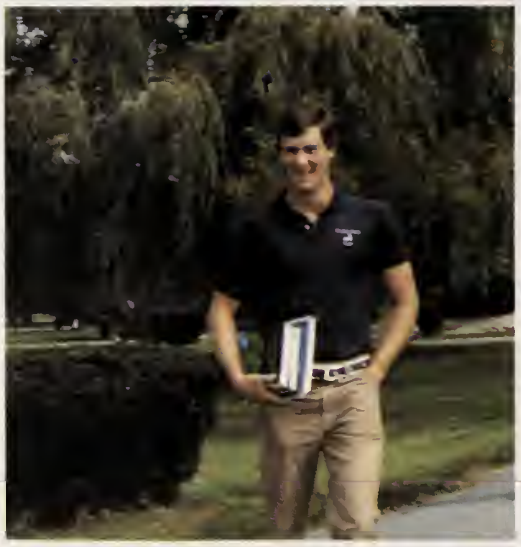
And reflections may never pass,



For our lives are as a mirror,

Reflecting the times of our past.

— D.M.D



Dedication

Throughout our four years at Merrimack College, we have been fortunate enough to have known Fr. Garrett, not only as a religious studies teacher, or familiar smile around campus, but also as the advisor for the class of 1982. Because we deeply appreciate his guidance and understanding, the Merrimackan staff has dedicated the 1982 Merrimackan to Rev. Mark A. Garrett, O.S.A.

Father Garrett has been here to make the good better and the not-so-good easier to take. He has taken an interest in our class that will transcend our stay at Merrimack. We have many fond memories to look back upon in the years to come and, among them, we will remember Father Garrett and smile. We hope that he too will be able to look back and smile upon us.

CAMPUS LIFE

Orientation 1981

Welcome!!
Class of '85

Resident Life

Dear Home,

What's new with you folks? I'll tell you, I've become a fountain of knowledge living at school . . .

I've learned not to study with the television or stereo on. For that matter, I've learned not to study in my room without ear plugs, and also, never to enter the library, between October and April, without wearing thermal underwear.

Speaking of which, I never realized before that I shouldn't wash my red sweatshirt and new jeans with my white clothes. I had to, though, I ran out of quarters and no one had change.

Mom, I now appreciate homecooking. I'll give Saga credit for their ingenious concoctions, using chicken, fish, or eggs, but sometimes . . . salade, or peanut butter and jelly is the best bet.

Concerning athletics, if you visit during football, frisbee, lacrosse, or baseball season, don't walk in front of the resident halls without a helmet.

Don't worry, there are R.A.'s and new C.A.'s to keep parental eyes on us all. If we are locked out, one of them will let us in. If we are "naughty", they will punish us with points. Too many points, and I will be back home.

Last, but not least, I've learned the lonely feeling associated with an empty mailbox. Could you please send money.

Tapping the keg of knowledge,
Your Child

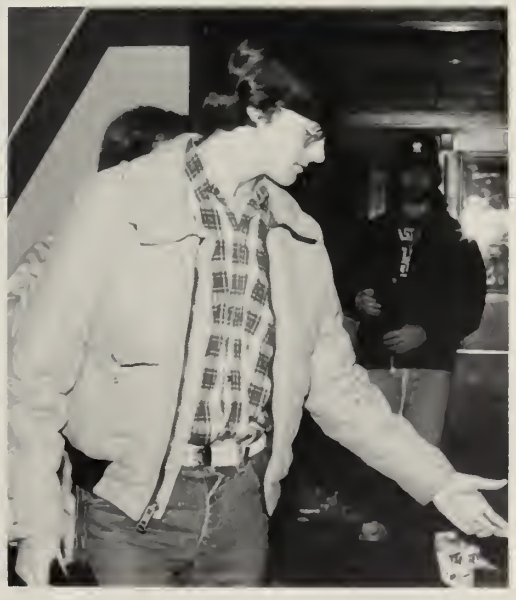
Quiche Again?



Off-Campus Living

"Hey! You weren't in class this morning. How come?"

"Well! I had a hectec day yesterday. You see, I live off-campus in an apartment. My roommates and I had absolutely no food, so we went to the "99" for dinner. Afterwards, we went to DeMoulas to do our grocery shopping. When we started back home, my car died. By the time we got a ride and had my car squared away, I was an hour late for work, so I put in some overtime — have to pay the rent somehow. When I finally got home, I had to stay up late to finish a philosophy assignment. After all that, I set my alarm for P.M., instead of A.M., and overslept, thus missing my ride this morning."

"Sounds as if you really don't like living off-campus too much."

"Are you crazy?! I love it!"

Commuters

What is it like to be a commuter? To those Merrimack students who are residents the life of a commuter may be somewhat of an enigma. Some people enjoy commuting, others hate it; but it's a fact of life that 65% of Merrimack's student body is made up of commuters.

A large part of the commuter's life is learning to budget his time. A commuter must arrange his time to allow for bad weather, car trouble, and heavy traffic. Many commuters have outside jobs to help pay their tuition and have to manipulate their schedules accordingly to allow sufficient time for classes, their job, studying, and a social life.

It's apparent that the life of a commuter is a busy one, yet many of them are involved in some kind of school activity. The various extracurricular activities allow commuters to meet congenial people on campus and give them a chance to contribute to their school.

We would like to thank the people who became involved at Merrimack through the Commuter Council this year. The generous contribution of your time and effort has helped to make the Council a successful organization on campus.

Thank you,
Commuter Council

Adult Students

To believe something not yet proved and to underwrite it with our lives, it is the only way we can leave the future open.

CO-OP

In many respects, the Co-op students are in a class all their own. They are a mixture of residents and commuters who enroll at Merrimack with other freshmen, but leave every other semester — in order to work in a field closely aligned with their college majors. Consequently, they spend five years at Merrimack — graduating a year behind their original classmates.

The common denominator among the Co-ops is that they are majoring in either Business Administration or Engineering. Their reasons for joining Co-op are generally two-fold. Co-op provides an excellent opportunity for work experience prior to graduation, and the earning power to defray a substantial portion of tuition, room, board, or commuting costs.

FINALS

For ten days every semester, each student has the golden opportunity to unleash an unending, rushing tide of knowledge, providing the student is able to survive two hundred and forty hours of textbooks and coffee. "The doors of wisdom are never shut" as long as the eyes are open.

This is not primarily the place where we have to be,
It is the place where we are.

This is not our prison but our home.
It is the road we must walk and the walking of it is called life.
Because we will walk it only once,
Then how important it is that we should walk it
With some purpose that we can call it our own.

What It Is

It's how you make it
Not how much you make.
It's licking the frosting
After baking the cake.
It's building bridges
Not towering castles.
It's enjoying the good times
While handling the hassles.
It's picking up pieces
That aren't always your own.
It's being a child
Even when you're fully grown.
It's getting on your feet
After taking a fall.
It's touching the ceiling
After climbing the wall.
It's tasting the bitter
Along with the sweet.
It's staying in the kitchen
Withstanding the heat.
It's wearing the dress
After stitching the seams.
It's making reality
Out of your dreams.
It's building a dike
And repairing the leak.
It's climbing a mountain
And reaching the peak.
It's the number of ripples
Not the size of the pebble.
It's pleasing God
And disappointing the devil.
It's shining a light
So that others might see.
It's showing the love
That always should be.
It's not the flight of the bird,
Not the spread of its wings,
It's reaching the stars,
And so many more things.
Yet success should not be measured
By how your coats are lined
Because most simply of all
It's just a state of mind.

The inauguration of Reverend John E. Deegan, as the fourth President of Merrimack College, was held in the Collegiate Chapel on Saturday, the twenty-fourth of October. The inaugural mass began at noon following a procession of dignitaries, including members from the Order of Saint Augustine, members of the Board of Trustees, administration, faculty, and student representatives. Immediately ensuing the mass, a luncheon was served in Perkins Lounge, for those who attended the ceremony.

The last event, of the day, enabled the student body to meet Father Deegan at an inaugural reception, also held in Perkins Lounge. Father Deegan was given the opportunity to acquaint himself with the students of Merrimack College. The atmosphere, casual and friendly, reinforced the feelings Father Deegan expressed in his inaugural address. He stated " . . . an institution built on the love, faith, and dedication of thousands of men and woman will endure. Such an institution is Merrimack College."

Merri Mack

Do You Remember When . . .

But if in your thought,
You must measure time in seasons.
Let each season encircle all the other seasons,
And let today embrace the past
With remembrance
And the future with longing.

Kahlel Gibran

For two years, I have viewed Merrimack through a camera lens. Some of what I've seen I've loved, and some, I've hated. Merrimack is now undergoing a crucial change. The once small liberal arts school is now a thriving educational institution, and as every corporation must formulate a strategic plan, so must Merrimcak College. Where do we stand as a college? Where will we stand, and where should we stand? Answers will come only from careful consideration of the facts, and cooperation between the administration, the faculty, alumni, and the student body. Cooperation is the key word here, let us not, let it get lost in the shuffle.

This yearbook is a time capsule. A time capsule of the academic year 1981-82. I have tried to incorporate every thriving activity, and some not so thriving activities, into the book, in order to make it an accurate time capsule. Have I succeeded? I think so. It took a tremendous amount of effort and discipline, but it is over now, and it was worth it. Thanks to Doreen, Maura, and Louise, you did more for this book than your titles will tell, and thank you Mrs. Lee for helping me keep this mess straight.

Sincerely,
Debbie DiSanzo
